DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is responsive to the Amendments filed December 19, 2006. Claims 11-22 are pending. Claims 1-10 have been cancelled. Claims 11-22 are new.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 11-22 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Nakada (Japanese Publication 2001-273336) teaches increasing the frequency of data to be managed when the data shows abnormal variances. Nakada does not mention that the information managed has any relation to capacity information or sending requests.

Peebles et al. (US PGPub 2003/0204789) teaches a diagnostic system which collects various types of statistical data with different frequencies, but does not specify what frequency nor that the statistical data includes capacity information.

Aki et al. (US PGPub 2002/0083169) teaches a network monitoring system including multiple computer systems which change the frequency of data collection based upon the service level. There is no discussion of collecting capacity information.

Hartsell et al. (US PGPub 2002/0059274) teaches a method for configuring the information management systems in a network environment. Hartsell further teaches that system resources, including storage capacity, may be adaptively allocated by allocating more resources for a given customer when service levels are approaching thresholds. Hartsell does not teach detecting a change in the capacity information nor changing the frequency in data collection.

Claims are allowable over the prior art because detecting a change in the capacity information and sending a request for decreasing a data collection interval for collecting the capacity information when said change in the capacity information is detected is not found, taught or suggested in the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
